COVET

Made of cork fabric and ottu material from Talati and walmu, designer Susana Godin's All the Way summer makes the best 100 percent recycled product from Upru Recycled materials and each piece a unique blend of textures with the performance benefits of natural cork. "There's a clear market need for new but sustainable materials when designing interior rugs for clients that demand both design and quality," Godin says. "With this innovative rug, we're hitting all the right notes." (upru.com)

Richard Frinier created the Still collection for Brown Jordan around a key idea: "What would happen if you had time to be still?" Nearly a decade later, the sleek indoor/outdoor collection is still going strong with its lateral additions: bar chair, sofa, ottoman, occasional table, side chair and dining console perfect for today's outdoor lifestyle. With its signature tapered arms and legs and radiused corners, the line "speaks to the modernist in me," Frinier says. (brownjordan.com)
